

Solihull Music Service has just completed a national three year Department for Education programme of monitoring and inspection, and the good news is that it has improved on its previous best and been awarded the highest possible grade .The latest report from the Federation of Music Services gives the assessment that it is an outstanding service with good capacity to improve and respond to challenging circumstances in the future..

The inspection focussed on all aspects of the service including teaching and learning, leadership and management, partnership working, and achievement and standards, and the grades given for all areas were at least good with many being rated outstanding.

Tim Low (Head of Solihull Music Service) said:

"I am delighted to receive this endorsement of the hard work of all of the team. Solihull Music Service aims to provide an inclusive and diverse range of musical opportunities for all children in the Borough, and this report confirms that the service we offer is of outstanding quality"
