

A unique child

Four key areas of difference

Every child with autism will have a range of abilities within each of these areas. Many children with autism have high levels of anxiety as a result of these differences.

