

Using ePress for eNewspapers and eMagazines

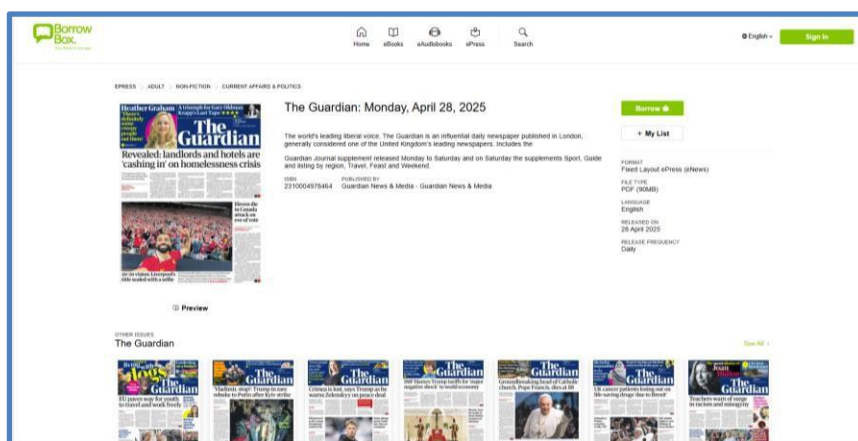

Instructions produced using the website, the app works in a similar way

Login to Borrowbox with your normal library account number and PIN. Once logged in, choose ePress for the eMagazines and eNewspapers (in the app, these options appear at the bottom of the screen)

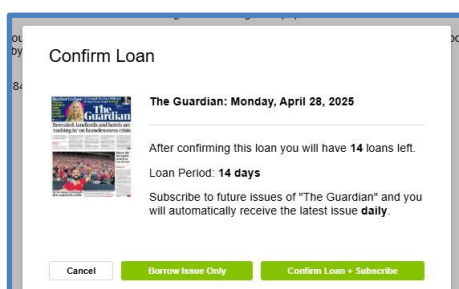

There will be several lists of titles by subject visible to you.

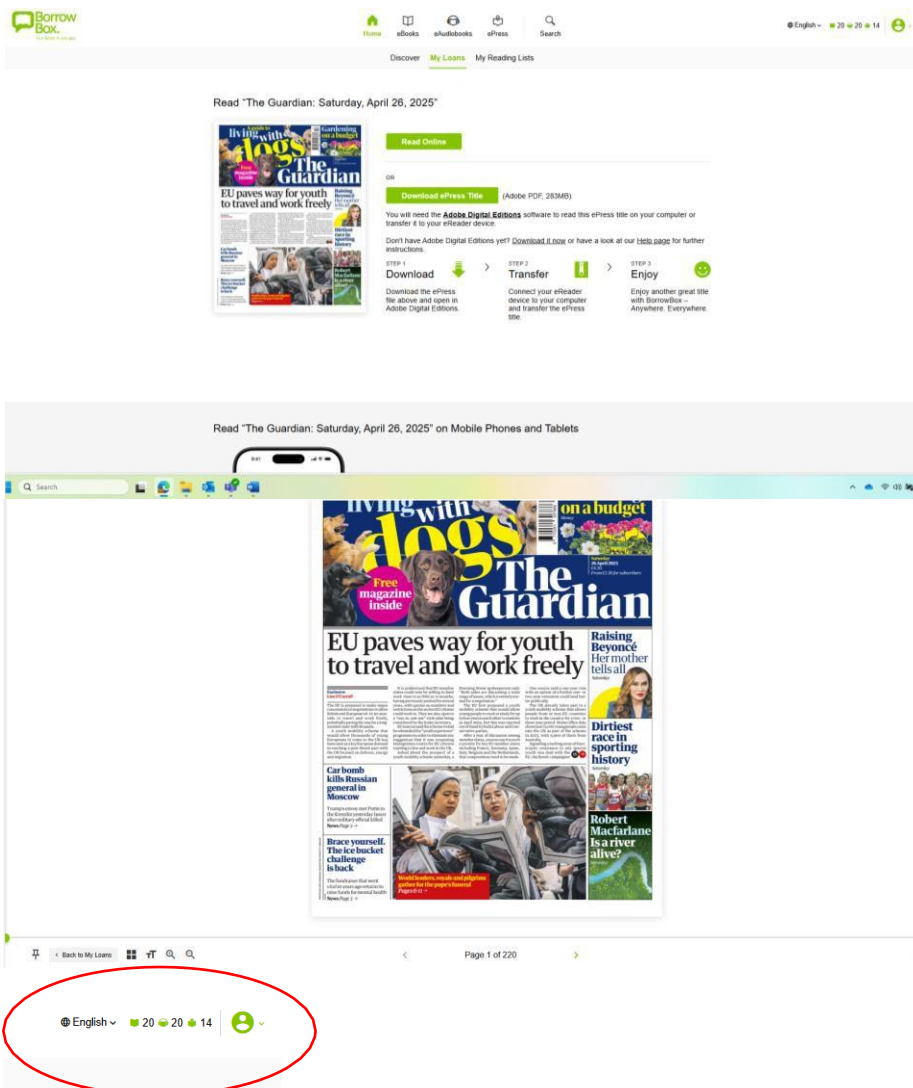

NB: The Daily and Sunday Telegraph, Times and Sunday Times, and Sun/Sun on Sunday are on NewsbankUK

To borrow an issue, click on 'Borrow' under the thumbnail picture or click on the issue's cover to take you to more information, then on the 'Borrow' button. Back issues are shown under the current issue.

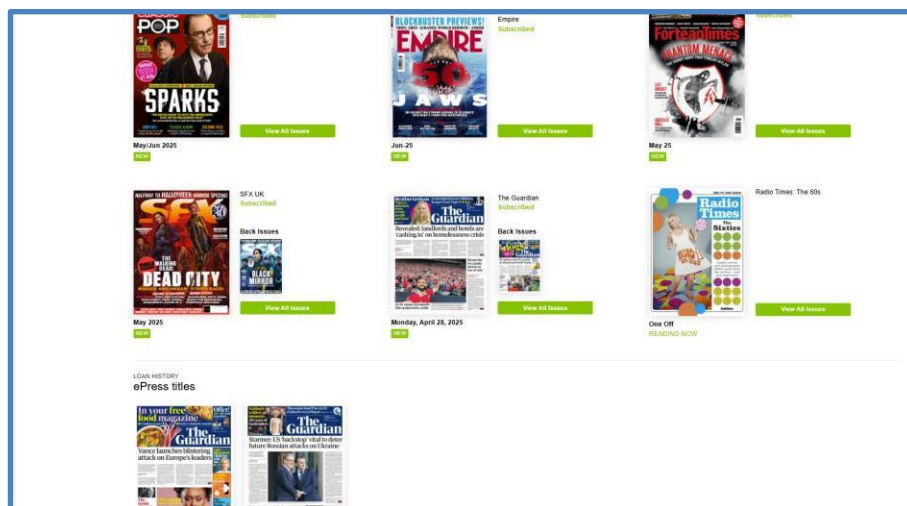

You will be asked to confirm the loan, and at this point you can also 'Subscribe' -this means the latest issue will be automatically loaned to you when it comes out. There is no charge for this.

Once borrowed, you can read the issue or download it for offline use – for this you would need to download Adobe Digital Editions if not using the app.

You can read the paper by clicking on the arrows at the side or if using a device, scrolling left or right. Any supplements that are included within the paper will appear at the end of the issue, they are not separated. NB: not all supplements are available digitally

Click on the figures at the top right of the screen to see your library of eMagazine and eNewspaper loans

- Your loan period for issues is three weeks.
- You can have up to 100 titles from the ePress collection on loan at any one time (correct September 2026).
- Issues can be renewed/reborrowed.
- Some issues may have a translation function (this can be found by clicking on an article then on the 'globe' icon or the three dots if using a device, selecting the 'Translate article' link and selecting your preferred language. Not all articles or languages will have this functionality).
